

Web Development Overview

A web site, when implemented properly, is a very powerful marketing tool that shows prospective clients what you do, and why they should choose you over your competition. A well thought out web site should also instill confidence in these prospective clients, and gain their confidence in doing business with you. There are many different approaches to web design and development.

We break down our web site strategies as such:

- Brochure Sites
- E-Commerce Sites
- Portal and other Dynamic Sites
- Customer Relationship Management (CRM)
- Vertical Market Sites
- Thick Client Development

Whatever your needs, we can discuss options and suggest functionality you might not have considered.

We also offer a variety of Hosting options for a turnkey solution including e-mail and support.
